

Pet Profile

Here are my 2 monsters; Bee and Bear.

Bee is 3 on Monday 4th May, (of course we'll have a party for her and she'll have her own cake, just in case you were wondering!) We've had Bee since she was 8 weeks old. My mother in law has her brother 'Chip' and they love spending time together. She is such a little 'princess'. She loves nothing more than to cuddle up (under a blanket) and gets annoyed with me working from home because she doesn't understand why we can't just cuddle. She'll play with Bear for a short while but then skulks off back to the couch to lie down. Such a hard life.

Bear is our baby. He's only just turned 1 and is still such a fluffy, bouncy pup. He's stupid by the way! He loves hiding in the Hebe bush in the garden and often hides his toys in there too; until the frogs appear and then he runs a mile 😊 He loves attention and does whatever he can to get it, as you can see from the photo. He can be naughty, no, more like mischievous! He loves to hide in the bottom of my wardrobe too and I have locked him in there several times without knowing.

We also have a tortoise called 'Oogway' who is a real character. He wanders around at his leisure, but if you get in his way he will nibble at your toes.....

.... and 2 Axolotls; Merry and Pippin. They love to eat worms but their reactions are quite slow so it usually takes a while to catch them.
